Vegetable Crop Continues to Slide in Glades

Glades area farmers continued a three-year slide in vegetable farming during the 1972-73 harvest season, marking a $10 million loss compared to last year, but sugar more than made up for it with a $36 million increase in income.

Glades growers shipped a total of 23,841 cartons of vegetables, valued in $59,967, 181, out of the area this year, according to Palm Beach County Associate Agricultural Agent John Causey.

This compared to 27,851 cartons, valued at $69,844,225 shipped from the area during the 1972-73 harvest. Vegetable harvests in the Glades during the 1971-72 season were valued at $71,699,667.

The information was released last week as part of the extension office's annual report on Palm Beach County agriculture, but if the vegetable picture looked bad, sugar looked very good.

Skyrocketing sugar prices nationwide meant that although bad weather during the season resulted in a harvest this year of almost a million tons less than last year, with a corresponding decrease in sugar produced, the total value jumped from $181 million to $258 million.

There was a corresponding drop in the production of blackstrap molasses (from $2,994,768 gallons last year to $6,742,642 this year) and increase in price (from $12,574,922 last year to $21,970,751 this year).

The spiraling prices were the result of short supply caused by poor harvests here and worldwide, and a growing demand for the sweetening agent, here and worldwide.

The total value of the sugar and molasses produced this year was $250,828 acres were harvested this year, only 7,716,978 tons of sugar were ground.

Last year, 24,142 acres were harvested for a total of 8,747,355 tons ground. The yield of the cane was also less this year than last year, 9.66 per cent compared to 9.76 per cent.

Cox Is Unopposed In South Bay Race

South Bay Mayor Vernita Cox was assured of retaining her city commission seat Tuesday when no one qualified against her but Commissioner Ester Berry and John Deaton left her seat by default by not filing for re-election.

Mrs. Cox filed for re-election to her second two-year term of office Aug. 14 and left for a 10-day vacation.

A Sept. 10 runoff was made possible in the Group One race Tuesday when Wilbur Finley and Howell Goodhead paid their one-dollar fees to oppose Donald Tanner, who qualified Monday.

In the group three race, O'Neal Walker qualified Tuesday to run against Marjorie Henderson, the first candidate to file to run in the Sept. 1 city election.

Filing was almost non-existent until the last two days of the qualification period, when four of the six candidates qualified.

Of the six candidates, three are running for the first time.

Mrs. Cox is an incumbent and both Walker and Goodhead are former commissioners. Goodhead was defeated last year when he ran for re-election against incumbent Commissioner Neal Mayo. Walker was mayor of South Bay until he resigned in 1971 when he left the Glades.

Mrs. Henderson, the first to qualify, is the wife of Sam Henderson, the owner of Henderson's Trailer Park in South Bay.

Finley, who lives at 194 N.W. Fourth Ave., said he was born in Palatka and has lived in South Bay for the past four to five years. He is a foreman for Greening's Farms.

Tanner, who lives at 264 S. E. Second Ave., is a foreman for South Bay Growers. "I've been toying with the idea for some time," he said.

Commissioner John Deaton had said earlier he probably wouldn't run if the new state financial disclosure law applied to city commissioners.

Belle Glade Expects No Late Qualifiers

With the qualifying period drawing to a close, it appeared Wednesday as though the city commission races for the Sept. 10 city election were set with three candidates for one seat and two for the other.

In the Group One at-large race, incumbent W.R. "Ralph" Kirk is running for re-election to his third two-year term against Jerry Roberts. This was the first time Roberts has run for any political office.

Kirk is the local agent for Peninsular Life Insurance Co. and before he ran his first race for the city commission in 1970 was elected constable, only to have the position abolished before he completed his first term.

Roberts is chief investigator for Florida Rural Legal Services. He was one of the original organizers of City of Black Youth (COBY).

In the Group Two race, a three-way contest is developing between Earl Armstrong, N.W. Willis and Eugene Harrison, all of whom have run for city commission in the past and some of whom have been successful.

Incumbent Dr. John Grady is seeking election to the U.S. Senate now held by Sen. Edward Gurney and announced he will not seek re-election to the commission.

Harrison and Armstrong were defeated by Grady during a special election last year. Armstrong was eliminated, although John D. "Skipper" Poole in the four-way race.

Late Bulletin

Tom Altman, administrative assistant to Belle Glade City Manager William Mallory, resigned his position Wednesday to run for the Group Two at-large city commission seat being vacated by Dr. John Grady.

Altman's surprise move came shortly before 3 p.m., only an hour and 45 minutes before the deadline to file, when he handed City Clerk Jeff Jones his resignation.

At 28, Altman will be the youngest candidate to file for the office of city commissioner in some years. He is running against the oldest, 79-year-old N.W. Willis.

There has been considerable argument over whether or not Belle Glade needs a new city hall. In today's Herald we are going to give the people of Belle Glade a chance to speak. Just below is a straw ballot. It has two choices. Mark one of them and then drop them in the mail to the Belle Glade Herald at Box 790. If you can't make it to the mail then drop it off at our office on Main St. You can also drop off sample ballots at White's Auto on Main St., Grants on Ave. A, and Royals at the plaza. All ballots will be collected at noon Tuesday. But hurry and vote now. Let the commission know your feelings.

COLONIAL CORRESPONDENTS EDWARD WALSH AND JEROME TURK are feature writers in Dateline History feature set to begin Sept. 5

Colonial Reporters Go to Work for Herald

A fascinating new series of columns brings America's revolutionary history alive, starting Sept. 5 in the Belle Glade Herald.

Each week, Dateline History will bring you "on-the-spot" news coverage of the events, people and conditions of the America of 200 years ago.

Colonial Correspondents Jerome Turk and Edward Walsh recreate the turbulent scene as 13 proud, bickering colonies confront the majesty and might of British crown and parliament.

Dateline History begins with fireworks at the first continental Congress in September, 1774. Turk and Walsh are there, walking the cobblestone streets of Philadelphia, huddling with delegates in Daniel Smith's candlelit City Tavern, witnessing bold speeches at Carpenter's Hall. They seek out the news behind the news, too.

At the moment fiery Patrick Henry stands up to proclaim "I am not a Virginian, but an American," his 36-year-old wife Sarah, has gone mad and is kept in a straitjacket in the basement of the family home.

Both born and bred on the Ohio frontier, Turk and Walsh bring a sense of wonder to their reporting of these events without, says Turk, "being intimidated by favorite sons of any one of the 13 original colonies." Their columns are authenticated by a panel of historians.

Turk, 49, is a veteran writer, one-time newspaper reporter, World War II foot soldier, author, and originator of a 15-year series of daily documentary programs broadcast on radio stations in Northwest Ohio. His younger colleague, Walsh, 34, turned away from a career in banking ten years ago to write magazine pieces and movie scripts. He later joined Turk in writing broadcast documentaries and films.

Both men are American history buffs and have traveled widely. Turk scripted the multimedia show on the U.S.A. produced in a six-story balloon at Osaka: Japan at Expo '70. He has written multimedia film documentaries for Eastman Kodak Company taking him to Europe, Latin America, and, last fall, around the world. Turk and Walsh are currently collaborating on a film documentary on the U.S.A. and Canada.

As America approaches its bicentennial in '76, many people are hungry to reaffirm their faith in this nation. How they can rediscover that faith in the columns of Dateline History.

Union May Move in Teamster Vote Due At Florida Sugar

The first strong union could move into the Florida sugar industry Sept. 5 when 17 truck drivers at Florida Sugar Refinery will decide whether they want to be represented by the Teamsters Union.

The 17 drivers are among the few over-the-road drivers in the area, driving liquid sugar to points throughout Florida. Only Everglades Sugar in Clewiston and the Glades County Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative in Moore Haven receive and truck sugar out of the area.

Travis M. Dumas, president and business manager of Teamsters Local #390 in Miami, said he had been approached by the drivers employed at Florida Sugar, that he hadn't approached them.

"We're not attempting to organize companies in the Glades," Dumas said, "but when they came to us, we agreed to represent them if that's what they want."

"There are apparently a lot of low wage earners in that area," he said "that are abused in my opinion, that are watching to see how this comes out."

He said there are a lot of employees in other sugar mills who may want to be represented by the Teamsters should it be voted in at Florida Sugar Refinery.

Dumas said this is the second time the truck drivers at Florida Sugar have voted on whether they want to be represented by the Teamsters.

The first was June 28, 1973, when 17 drivers voted 9-7 against allowing the national labor organization represent them.

Florida Sugar General Manager Tom Swager said there are approximately 90 employees driving trucks and at the refinery, none of whom are organized.

"I'm trying to run a little campaign to stop it," Swager said of the pending election. "I really don't think we need this union here."

Dumas said the next step, assuming the drivers do wish to be affiliated with the Teamsters, would be to hold a proposal meeting of the employees to decide what type of a contract package they wish to negotiate.

"These employees approached us," Dumas said. "We're not going after the companies out there but I do understand it's an unorganized area."

Dumas is a controversial figure in Miami labor who announced he would run for the presidency of Local #390 when his friend, Lloyd Hicks, was jumped down after announcing his candidacy for the same post.

Hicks announced on Sunday, June 11, 1972 that he was a candidate for the presidency of the local and was shut to death the following Tuesday.

According to the August issue of Readers Digest, Hicks was Dumas' friend and Dumas announced he would run in his place. He reportedly has been armed and guarded since winning the office.

Readers Digest characterizes Dumas as an honest union man "bucking organized criminals, who have reportedly issued a 'contract' to have Dumas killed."

He is said to have refused to involve members of his local in shady insurance deals.

Should Dumas be successful, the powerful Teamsters will succeed where the United Farm Workers Union has failed over the past two years.

The UPW organizers, however, have indicated a broader interest than the on-the-road drivers and have been attempting to organize all the field workers and cane truck drivers in the Glades.

During their efforts, the UPW organizers have pitched their pickets against some of the largest companies in the area, including U.S. Sugar Corp. and Tallmadge Sugar.

Tallmadge has since stopped using British West India laborers to cut cane during the harvest season, going instead to 100 per cent mechanized harvesting.

The only union to organize the on-the-road companies with any degree of success has been the International Association of Machinists (IAM), which has organized the mill workers at its mills.

It is quick check with the sugar mill is the area indicated only the Gulf and Western sugar mill at Okechobee is organized to the extent that on-the-road drivers are also represented.

Cadillac Dealership Is Sold

Tom Norton Motor Co. has been tentatively sold to Cy Pastor, a 15 year veteran of the automobile business from Homestead, Fla.

The sale hinges on approval by General Motors. This approval is expected within the next week to 10 days.

Norton owned the dealership for almost four years. He purchased it from the original owner, Bob Davis.

Norton's General Manager, George Garbar, said he would not be remaining with the company. Mr. McAllister, sales manager for the Cadillac, Buick, Pontiac, Opel dealership for the past three years will remain under the new ownership.

McAllister said Pastor intends on moving to Belle Glade.

The Last Straw

The Belle Glade City Commission met in a workshop last week to decide whether or not it should continue with the building of its $1,066 million city hall.

In the beginning the city wanted a building which would cost $4.6 million. They went to their architect, told him what they wanted, what they wanted to spend and then turned him loose.

Too loose it now appears. The architect overdesigned. He said he wasn't figuring on the 20 per cent surcharge the contractor added into his bid just for coming to Belle Glade. He said he wasn't figuring on 15 per cent inflation.

First of all he should have. But even when he didn't the 35 per cent over two figures total represent only $206,500 of the over design. What about the other $200,500?

The figure of $269,500 which represents the total over designed after allowing for the 35 per cent the architect didn't allow for, represents a total over design on the original building of 46 per cent.

If you figure in the other $206,500 the over design on the original figure budgeted is 81 per cent. Now, if somebody gave us an advertising budget within which to work and we overplanned by even 46 per cent, let alone 81 per cent, we wouldn't get any advertising.

Yet in the face of all of this the city has told the architect to get back with the contractor and see if they can cut down on the cost. They will come back to the city commission in two weeks from now and a final decision should be reached.

In the meantime you can help the city commission make up its mind. On the front page of today's Herald is a straw poll.

It is self explanatory. Make the effort to vote in a city hall or not. Vote for one of the alternatives and then either mail or drop the ballot by here or any one of the three convenient locations in Belle Glade.

The Herald's box no. is Box 760. If you don't want to put it in the mail you can drop it by our offices on Main St., Grant on Ave. A, Royals at the plaza or White's Auto on Main St.

This is your chance to take an active part in city government. The commission will be in no way bound by your vote but an overwhelming majority on any one choice would be a clear indication to them and would certainly help them in making their decision.

A Phoenix Rising?

Tell It Like It Ain't

Dear Sir:

I went to the Classroom Teachers' Association meeting on Friday last and sat in the audience, not on the stage, in hopes that I could shake the hand of a teacher or two who were strong enough to stand up and tell it like it is. I was disappointed. This is the way it is in a teacher who has a Rank III certificate and who taught last school year with no experience, started at $7,800 and subsequently had this salary increased to $7,855. In this school year this teacher, now with one year's experience will earn $8,240 or a $385 increase plus a $205 contribution of taxpayers money toward his retirement of a 1.5% increase of spendable dollars.

A one year teacher in 1973-74 earned a $6,091, is now a second year teacher and will earn $6,540 or a $450 increase plus a $216 retirement contribution or a total increase of spendable dollars of 9%.

A three year teacher, now a four year teacher, earned $6,570 and will now earn $6,440 or a $448 increase plus a $208 retirement contribution or a 9% spendable dollar increase.

Going on out the entire salary schedule, no teacher will receive less than a 6.5% total increase in spendable money.

I heard a lot of other comments such as teachers were "locked out of schools" for a meeting. This is totally untrue. As an example, they were offered North Shore High School after August 21st when the floor stripping of the gymnasium would have been completed. There were other statements of fact which were stated which were, in fact, not.

The point of it all is fabricated tales and half-truths do little to foster public confidence. I would always hope that if half the energy spent on teacher interests were spent on student interest our problems would greatly diminish.

Sincerely,

Arthur H. Bougess
Member of the School Board

Tom Gallen Boosts Tom Johnson

Dear Editor:

Unhappily, Senator Tom Johnson, Republican from West Palm Beach, has received endorsements from Republican leaders in the Florida Legislature but I would like to share with your readers an observation of Senator Johnson's service from the eyes of a demagogue who has spent eight years in the Florida Legislature.

Senator Tom Johnson, is highly respected for the vast experience and knowledge which he has in law enforcement and criminal prosecution from his former years as a State Attorney.

A great deal of his work in this field goes unnoticed because it is technical drafting and committee work. Once he has his support and sponsors Criminal Law Revision, he virtually assures passage. No other Florida Senator enjoys this honor.

However, criminal law is not his only forte. Senator Johnson was recognized only last week for his expertise in "civil" law when he was appointed to the Florida Veterans Study Commission by the Senate President.

In the area of rising crimes and liberal supreme court rulings, giving criminals loopholes, we certainly need the dedicated service of a dedicated hardworking Legislator such as Senator Tom Johnson.

Respectfully,
TOM GALLEN
Manatee County
Bradenton, Florida

In Wales, it's believed that taking holly into the house before Christmas or leaving it up after New Year is bad luck and leads to family quarrels.

The wires are starting to hum on Belle Glades other big problem-State Rd. 80.

When I was in Washington I talked with Sen. Lawton Chiles' administrative aide, Rick Parrell. He casually asked the question "What ever became of State Rd. 80?"

After a 30 minute tirade by yours truly against the state Department of Transportation and other various and sundry agencies I promised to drop a line giving an overall picture of the complete and utter foul-up on four-laning State Rd. 80.

This I did about two weeks ago. Included in the letter were four editorials written at the times of the different foul-ups.

This week I received a reply from Chiles. "Walking Lawton" as he was to become known, walked State Rd. 80 when he was campaigning. In his letter he said he well remembers the condition of it and can appreciate our concern here in the Glades with the delays in having it four-laned.

"Safety factors alone would certainly argue for expeditious handling of the project," Chiles' letter states.

"While this is not a Federal project, I do have a very real interest in seeing that every effort is made to move forward with the four-laning." Secretary Revell (Walter Revell, Sec. of Transportation, State of Florida) is aware of my interest in the project and I have again communicated my concern to him, requesting a complete updating on the timetable for S.R. 80. I would hope his response will provide some basis for encouragement and I will be pleased to share it with you. In the meantime, if I can be of any service to you, please do not hesitate to give me a call.

It is a very interesting and sincere letter from Chiles. The very fact that he is interested enough in our problems in contact Revell is a big plus. I only hope they don't try to feed Chiles the same bowl of pabulum they have been force feeding the Glades for at least the past two years. DOT timetables are about as worthless as a "truth" from ex-President Nixon.

To really get some action on this road to really get the four-lanes in before another 10 years go by-it's going to take a heavyweight like Chiles to really put on the pressure. No, it may not be a Federal project now-but it could be. No, Lawton Chiles may not have any official say so with state government, but being the top elected official of his state's party can certainly pull some weight with the governor who can get the DOT boys off their duffs and on the stick.

If we sit around and wait for the DOT to meet timetables-even the liberal ones they establish for themselves-we'll never get S.R. 80 four-laned during our lifetimes.

Believe me Senator-people from the Glades know from whence I speak.

Carlton Fund Fish Fry Typifies Glades Residents

It's times like Sunday you can really appreciate the kind of people we have for neighbors in the Glades.

Sunday was just the second time within about a month it was brought home to me how the people in the Glades can stick together and get things done, either for a particular person or for the community as a whole.

The occasion was the fish fry thrown for the W.T. Carlton fund. For the benefit of the few readers who didn't know, Carlton is a trooper who works out of the FHP office in Pahokee.

Carlton's doctors say he has cancer-terrestrial cancer, and a group of his friends, headed up by Trooper Kenneth Buckner, got together to hold a fish fry for his benefit.

When I wandered out to the marina Sunday afternoon to see how the fish fry was going and get a few pictures, I expected to see a few people standing all line maybe.

There must have been close to 1,000 people there then and some of the people running the show said somewhere in the vicinity of 1,000 hungry diners had lined up already to chew down on fried fish and hushpuppies.

And you gotta hand it to the cookhouse crew. It takes dedication to stand over those hot kettles in a swatbox like the pavilion kitchen becomes. Man, it was hot as twin blue ovens out there and they were still hustling over those fish.

Matter of fact, it was so hot, I didn't want to eat fish like those being served up out there. It's not just hot, it's HOT.

But that's okay too, cause it goes right along with that warm feeling you get when you see people get behind a common cause.

And if that makes me an old-fashioned, hokey sentimentalist, then I'm an old-fashioned, hokey sentimentalist and proud of it.

I think a lot of what a community is all about, or should be. Man has survived as long as he has because he originally had the brains to band together and take care of one another and if we lose that, we may be on our way to join the dinosaurs.

Well, it's time for a little more of the calendar crazies, in the form of monthly madness, weekly wonders and daily dyspepsia.

Now, a lot of my three readers probably know Sept. 2 is Labor Day, but many of you realize it's also Mustache Day, so was those cookie dusts, lads, and let's see who has the longest handlebar hair.

Cause, if you have a healthy set of whiskers on your upper lip, you can use it to strain the juice out when you're celebrating National Spanish Green Olive Week Sept. 5-14.

I know one local gent who said he's already laying plans for the week-long holiday by eating a jar of green olives a day, one at a time in continence.

Wonder how he celebrates National Tavern Month.

A couple of other weeks that go hand in glove, so to speak, are National Knit and Sweater Week and National Dog Week. I can see a little old lady now, in her rocking chair knitting a sweater for Bowser.

Appropriately enough, National Dog Week winds up on Sept. 28, National Kid's Day. So knit your dog a sweater and let him go out and play with a kid. That takes care of the whole month.

But it doesn't take care of October in the least. There's Let's Go Hunting Month. And what do you hunt? That's easy, it's also National Restaurant Month and a National Wine Festival. So go hunt a restaurant and drink some wine, spon-dee-dos.

And then, Mama, mia, Oct. 3-12 is National Macaroni Week, including Oct. 6, Father-in-Law Day. How's about that, palson? Think I'll go home and have some macaroni and cheese just to get ready for it.

As Henry Fonda put in a movie I saw several years ago, it's time to head for the high country...and I mean Rocky Mountain High.

It's been a back of a year but I figure it's time for me to give my three readers a res. (Thanks, Mom, thanks, Dad, you've both been loyal. I don't know who that third one is.)

By the time you read this, I should be well on my way to a trip to the Rockies, a part of the country I've never seen.

If this works out all right, it might be a vacation to remember and I understand the Grand Tetons are nice and cool this time of year.

So take it easy for a couple of weeks and rest up cause when the two weeks are over, I'll probably be back with even more nonsense.

A conscientious housewife was not satisfied with the way her bathroom bowl cleaner was removing stains -- she added a dash of household bleach. She was found on the bathroom floor -- dead! An unsuspecting victim of deadly chlorine gas.

Mixing household cleaners can be dangerous. The deadliest mixture is the combination of chlorine bleach with an acid-producing substance, such as bathroom bowl cleaner or vinegar. The result will be chlorine gas.

One Medical Newsletter told of 30 persons in separate incidents being overcome by gases from the combination of chlorine bleach and ammonia. These occurred in the kitchen, bathroom and in trawling swimming pool water.

To be safe -- never mix cleaning agents, especially chlorine bleach. Make sure you read the directions and warnings on the labels of all cleaning products.

Farm Front

The supermarket is about the only part of the vast U.S. food system that most Floridians see.

Each week they shop the well stocked shelves of one or more of the $2,000 supermarkets in America buying fresh or frozen orange juice produced here in our own state, beef from the Midwest, vegetables that may have been shipped a thousand miles from whatever area is in production, and bread, eggs and milk from local suppliers.

How do all these foods arrive on the supermarket shelves every day, day after day? The answer is the U.S. food system.

The supermarket or neighborhood convenience market is only the "tip of the iceberg," just as is the "tip of the iceberg." Just as in the shoe industry we are more familiar with the shoe store than with the many places that produce and process the food.

needed approximately 975 seed cane cutters and before British West Indies cutters can be imported, the U.S. Department of Labor requires the industry to make an effort to find American laborers to do the job.

"We'll pay them a minimum guaranteed wage of $2.45 an hour," Sikes said, "plus free housing. We hope to start cutting seed cane for planting on Aug. 28. Our regular harvest season will begin some time in November."

"Although we usually recruit people to plant the seed cane as well," Sikes said, "this year we've found more than enough workers to do this kind of work. It will take about 1,000 workers to plant the seed cane for the 1975-76 crop."

The recruiters were to begin looking for cutters Tuesday in Belle Glade, Wauchula, Avon Park, Pensacola and Crestview.

On Wednesday, they were to be in Fort Myers, Homestead, Dundee, Lakeland, Daytona Beach, Sanford, Jacksonville, DeFuniak Springs and Marianna, according to Sora.

Today, the recruiters were to spread their efforts to Naples, Immokalee, Pompano Beach, Delray Beach, Tampa, Bradenton, Orlando, Apopka, St. Augustine, Palatka, Quincy and Tallahassee.

Friday, the teams will be working West Palm Beach, Vero Beach, Fort Pierce, Sarasota, Leesburg, Ocala, Gainesville, Perry and Lake City.

Sora said the 35 employment offices will be revisited by the recruiters the second week in October to conduct the second phase of the industry's positive recruitment program.

Berger Wins National Ag Award

Dr. R. D. Berger, Plant Pathologist at the Agricultural Research and Education Center, Belle Glade received the highest national award for research on vegetable crops at the 86th Annual Meeting of the American Phytopathological Society (APS).

The Campbell Award, sponsored by the APS and the Campbell Soup Company, is considered the most prestigious award for vegetable crop research. The Campbell Award consists of a bronze medal and a cash award of $2,000. Dr. Berger was selected by the Awards and Honors Committee of APS to be the 1971 recipient of the award based on his research on celery and sweet corn diseases as published in recent national professional journals. Dr. Berger's research primarily concerned the forecasting of blights on celery and sweet corn which enabled the growers to save thousands of dollars by eliminating fungicide sprays during low-disease hazard periods.

In addition, disease losses in these crops to epidemic development have been avoided when the forecasting systems were followed.

The Annual Meeting of the APS was held in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, August 11-15 and was attended by over 2,000 international pathologists.

Dr. Berger is currently on a nine-month Faculty Development Leave conducting research on disease epidemiology at the Agricultural University, Wageningen, The Netherlands. He is working in the laboratory of Dr. J.C. Zadoks, an international authority on epidemiology of plant diseases.

The 1974-75 school year will begin in the Glades at 8:15 a.m. Monday when classes begin at seven area elementary schools, some of which will be undergoing changes in the type of education offered.

West Area Superintendent James Maynor said several schools will be benefiting from pilot programs in "continuous learning" and "flexible staffing" which have been carried on in a couple of local schools for up to three years.

Maynor said the continuous learning program will be implemented this year at Belle Glade Elementary, Gove Elementary and Gladeview Elementary. Lakeshore Elementary will be the recipient of the flexible staffing program.

Canal Point was the proving ground for continuous learning, which Maynor described as being a skills mastery technique, with each child learning and mastering certain skills at his own rate of speed before going on to the next step.

Flexible staffing involves a team teaching concept, with teachers working in teams of four; two language arts, one social studies and science and one in math for each group of children.

Maynor said flexible staffing has been in the works at Eastlake Elementary School in Pahokee for the past three years and it, as well as the Canal Point program, has received national attention, with observers coming to the area from other areas to observe the techniques.

He said the results can be partially read in a study made last year which show 90 per cent of the students in the Glades working at or above their potential.

He said the techniques, which he has described in presentations to statewide and national teachers' associations, enable students to have more experiences than formerly, either in school or at home.

He said the two programs not only enable more students to work at their potential, they actually increase the child's potential in some cases.

"The level of our kids is increasing," Maynor said, "and we really feel good about it." Physical changes at these area schools are also expected to get underway this year in the form of new construction at Rosenwald and Gladeview Elementary Schools, and possibly at Gove Elementary.

Maynor said construction has already been approved for Rosenwald and Gladeview but is pending for Gove.

At Gladeview, a new media center and three classrooms are to be built; the existing library is to be remodeled into three additional classrooms and an interior corridor is to be remodeled into additional administrative spaces. The entire existing plant is also scheduled to be air conditioned.

At Rosenwald, the project includes six primary classrooms, four kindergartens, teacher planning space, support facilities and air conditioning of the existing school plant.

The Rosenwald modifications are expected to cost $500,000 and the Gladeview construction is estimated as being worth $370,000. The two projects are expected to be complete in about 18 months.

Maynor said the Gove construction is expected to cost $287,436 and will include a new media center, with the present center being converted into classrooms.

Maynor said the library needs to be expanded because Gove is also the location of the West Area Exceptional Child Education Center.

He said the projected construction time for the modifications slated for the three schools is 18 months.

School times for the coming year are 8:15 a.m. - 2:15 p.m. for Canal Point Elementary, Belle Glade Elementary, Gladeview Elementary, Gove Elementary, Pahokee Elementary, Rosenwald Elementary and South Bay Elementary.

Lake Shore Elementary will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., East Lake will be open from 8:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m., Glades Central High and Lake Shore Junior High will open from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and Pahokee Jr./Sr. High will open from 8:15 a.m. to 3:45 p.m.

Glenn Turner Stumps Glades

Super salesman Glenn W. Turner, of "Dare to be Great" fame, was in Belle Glade Monday during his campaign for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Edward Gurney and sought by Belle Glade's own Dr. John Grady. Turner is using a red-white-and-blue camper as his transportation on his state-wide stump. As he wheeled into town, Turner was using a loudspeaker to greet the citizens, including Grady, and hand out records he made in connection with his Dare to be Great course. "They won't let me sell them," Turner said, "so I'm giving them away." Turner said "they" are afraid to see him get elected, "because they know I'm going to be like a fox in a henhouse."

Absentee Ballots Available

Absentee ballots for the first primary election set for Sept. 10 are now available at the office of the supervisor of elections, Palm Beach County or at the county's Glades Office Building.

Palm Beach County Supervisor of Elections Jackie Winchester said the ballots may be requested any time during the 46 days preceding the election and must be returned no later than 7 p.m. the day of the election.

Mrs. Winchester said the ballots may be used by any registered voter who will be absent from the county on election day, is physically disabled and unable to go to the polls, is unable to appear because of the tenets of his religion, will be a supervisor, poll worker, inspector, voting machine deputy or deputy sheriff assigned to a precinct other than his own or who has changed his residence to another county after the books are closed for the election for the ballot is requested.

Completing the ballot is simpler in at least one respect since the signature on the ballot envelope may be witnessed by any two persons over 18 years of age or by a notary public.

She said the mobile voter registration unit is also active in continuing efforts to register voters for the general election, set for Nov. 5.

Potential voters have until Sept. 21 to register to vote in the general election but Mr. Winchester said time has already run out for them to register for either the first or second primaries. The second primary takes place Oct. 1.

Carlton Fund Boosted

The W. T. Carlton fund got a big boost Sunday as an estimated 800 Glades residents went to the Belle Glade Marina to make their contributions at a fish fry, being promoted for the Florida Highway Patrol Trooper, who physicians say has cancer. Trooper Kenneth D. Buckner, in charge of the fund, said an estimated $5,000 has been raised so far for Carlton. He said the fund was swelled particularly by a Policemen's Benevolent Association check for 1,000. Other persons wishing to donate to the fund can contact Buckner at the Florida Highway Patrol office in Pahokee.

Good news for all you girls interested in sports at school—Glades Central High School anyway.

Glades Central, along with the other high schools in Palm Beach County, has been awarded a $6,000 grant which will be used to promote girls' athletics, according to Graham Frost, Glades Central's new athletic director.

Frost succeeds Paul Dee, who left after the past school year to go to law school. The pick of sports is really open right now but the main interest seems to be toward basketball and track and field. Frost said they are trying to get the students' point of view before they make any definite decision as to which sports will be started.

But since there won't be another grant next year, the sport will have to be somewhat of a money-maker—enough to help the program stand on its feet and be able to continue.

The interest among the girls appears to be high and Frost expects around 50 to turn out. They will travel with close to 30 girls, he said.

Although I'm glad the schools are finally getting a sports program for girls, I wish it would have been a few years ago. There has been a golf team and tennis team for girls, but only a very limited number could play anyway, which left the majority out.

However, with a basketball team and a track and field team, a lot more girls can participate, and it should open the door for more activities for girls in the future.

With good ole Monday night football appearing again, I guess we'll have to sit back and listen to humble Howard while trying to find out what happened during the plays by ourselves. He's always dreading on about something related to football or putting a plug in for some kind of product or another while the action is going on.

One thing I gotta say for him, he is better to listen to once in awhile than these other broadcasters who find themselves repeating the same thing time after time. I never really noticed how hard up some of the speakers were until this past summer, watching the baseball games and ABC's Wide World of Entertainment.

Of course you can't really lay all the blame on them since what else are you going to say besides "Boy, he really knocked that one out of the park" or "What a fine shortstop he is." One thing several broadcasters have turned to is first praising a team for all its fine players and then turning around berating it as soon as errors are made—or vice versa, depending on who's winning at the time.

And then there are the poor men and/or women who have to preside over the gymnastic events. "She makes a difficult thing look easy," or "Watch how she arches her back," are some of the most common expressions used. It gets so repetitious after awhile, you want to just turn the sound down and watch a modern art screen.

And if you think talking about what's happening is bad, try writing about a baseball, volleyball or even a basketball game, to say nothing of softball games. Time and again I find reporters, including myself, dropping into a humdrum style of writing on softball/baseball games, mainly because there isn't that much action to write about.

So it may feel good to hear Howard Coseil mull things over and give the listener some different things to hear, although it may be over done.

Raiders Begin Football Practice

A total of 75 football candidates greeted Head Coach Al Werneke and his staff Aug. 15 for the opening day of full football practice at Glades Central High School's Raider Field, sometimes known as Memorial Stadium.

The 1974 Super Bad Raiders will have 17 returning lettermen, including nine starters on defense and five starters on offense, Werneke said.

Leading the 1974 Raiders will be senior quarterback Rigo Ruiz who started the last seven games last year. Other offensive starters will include senior center Dicky Sweet, guard Charles Ford, junior tackle Davey Locke and senior end Huddell Collier.

Defensively, the Raiders will have more returning starters than at any time in the past three years. The big defense will only have to replace middle linebacker James Mims and end Willie Polce.

But they have tackles David Jones and Clark Lloyd, noseman Calvin Willis and end, Cornelius Brown. In the secondary they have veteran Anthony Parrish, Alexander Brown (who will be moved to tailback), Barnes, Hines and Michael Washington.

The corner linebackers are: Charles Small and Huddell Collier.

Other letter winners who are expected to bid for defensive jobs are end Willie Terry, tackle Ernest Jackson and safety men Hector Velez, Willie Wright and Patrick Collier.

Offensively young players, who looked good in the spring, game were fullback Howard Moses, guards Allen Jones, David Kislaw and Lester Finney, tackles Antoine Russell and Wilton Haywood, and backs Norman Walker, Willie Clark and Eli Martin.

Plumber back who Werneke said have looked impressive are Norman Smith, Anthony Friday, Sept. 21.

The veteran Raider coaching staff, which Werneke said is one of the best in the state, includes Johnny Davis, secondary; Jay Seider, line coach; Riley Foster Jr., defensive back coach; and Willie "Old" McDonald as backfield and head junior varsity coach.

The Raiders will be working out twice a day at 8:35 a.m. and again at 3:30 p.m.

"The coaching staff," Werneke said, "is very optimistic for an outstanding year, which they hope to improve on their 1973 6-1 season record. Tickets for the Sept. 6 jamboree will be one dollar at the gate.

Coast Guard Releases News

On July 25, 1974 Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D.C. issued this news release:

"Among the many boating accidents reported to the Coast Guard since the beginning of the year are six floodings of plywood boats manufactured by the Broadwater Boat Company, Mayo, Maryland."

The results of a cooperative investigation conducted by Broadwater and the Coast

It is suggested that owners of wooden 25, 27, 29, and 31 foot Broadwater boats have the hulls of their boats inspected for cracking, bulges, hollows, loose screws, or layers of wood coming apart at the above described location. Owners of Broadwater boats who detect indications of damage are urged to contact Broadwater boats and the Coast Guard with a description of the damage and the location of the boat or where it may be inspected. Although the present investigation is confined to the Broadwater boats specifically listed, these inspection precautions apply equally to all wooden boats.

Since the time of this news release there have been three additional failures including the total to nine.

To prevent further casualties or loss of life the Coast Guard advises owners of wooden Broadwater boats to either have their boats inspected by a competent marina or marine surveyor, or for the owners to inspect the boats themselves.

KEYS TO MARRIAGE: PART III

One out of three marriages will someday end in divorce. What a pitiful record! It is equally true that there are 57 different reasons for getting a divorce in the United States—not each state has all 57—but when you combine the reasons for each of the states, you will find 57. But when we look to the Bible, we find only one. In Matthew, the 19th chapter, we are told that the cause of unfaithfulness that a person has the right to divorce a marriage. The institution of marriage is such a necessary and sacred institution that it may be necessary for us to give up some of our personal happiness in order that the institution might survive. Now, this runs counter to everything we think and believe today. We believe that personal happiness is all-important. But sometimes, if the nation is to be saved, a soldier must die. If a night-cow is to be born, the scorn must die, germinate, and bring forth new life. If an institution is to long endure, there must be those who make personal sacrifices to insure the continuation of the institution.

The Parson Pontificates

A man on television's "Today Show" this morning was talking about the fine man movement he is organizing to try to raise the ethical standards in this country. Raising the standards of ethics sounds like a wonderful idea! I wonder why the churches never thought of doing that?

[See Ephesians 5:20-32]

Marriage is one of the few institutions in which is so sacred that it may even require us to experience some personal unhappiness, and to even have to live with a person we don't enjoy living with in order that the institution itself might be preserved. Marriage is not a man-made institution—it is ordained by God, and one reason it is failing today is because it's a responsibility and a relationship that we can't escape from. When the going gets rough, the chips are down, the bells are rung, and the horns are blown, it's simply too easy for too many immature and irresponsible people to pick up and run, to refuse to stay, when really they need to stay and work out their problems, mature as an individual, and make their marriage work. ## A CASE OF BALANCE

You don't have to be a scientist to realize that these tons of rock are held in check by perfect balance. You wouldn't want to be sitting nearby if they weren't!

This kind of balance results in inertia. There is another state of being that results in sound initiative and worthwhile action. You've heard men speak of a balanced background, a balanced education, a balanced life. They're usually referring to the fact that no important element has been ignored or neglected.

Religious sincerity is one necessity for this kind of balance. It cannot take the place of any of the other essentials. Nor can anything else take its place. The Church is constantly helping us gain—and keep—our balance!

Roberts Qualifies

City Commission candidate Jerry Roberts is shown above as City Clerk Vera Jones qualified him to run for the at-large Group One seat now occupied by W.R. "Ralph" Kirk. He and Kirk are the only ones who have qualified for the Group One seat but the Group Two seat, being vacated by U.S. Senator hopeful John Grady, is being sought by Earl Armstrong, N.B. Willis and Eugene Harrison.

To Meet Candidates

Members of the Glades Republican Club will get a chance to meet their candidates before the Sept. 10 primary election during the club's next meeting, slated for 7 p.m. Aug. 23 at the Pahokee Elks Club.

Club President Robert Prose said the club has invited all Republican candidates, officials and office holders in the county to attend the meeting, which begins at 7 p.m. with a social hour and the luncheon, which begins at 8:15 p.m.

"This is a chance for all club members to meet and talk to all the candidates before the first primary election," Prose said, "then during the luncheon, each candidate will be given two minutes to present his or her views."

He said tickets for the meeting will cost $4 per person and can be picked up from club members or at the door but he asked that reservations be made by Aug. 19.

Reservations may be made by calling Joanne Herick at 821-7802, he said, or Jan Prose at 896-2077.

1,862 Cattle Stolen Last Year

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 16 - Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner said today livestock thieves made off with more than half a million dollars worth of cattle, hogs and horses during the fiscal year which ended June 30.

Reported theft of cattle amounted to 1,862 head, given an estimated value of $483,892. Reported theft of hogs involved 50 animals worth $2,290, and there were four horses worth $3,500 reported stolen.

Conner emphasized that these thefts included only those for which his livestock theft investigators worked with local law enforcement agencies on. Total value of animals involved was $502,322.

Number of animals stolen was up 150 per cent over the previous fiscal year and value of animals stolen was up 347 per cent, Conner said.

During the current calendar year through July, there have been reports of 375 cattle and two horses stolen. Last year, 237 cattle and four horses were reported stolen in the same period.

Richard F. Marsh, supervisor of the livestock theft investigation unit of the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, said some thefts have not been reported by local law enforcement agencies and there is no statewide reporting system.

Marsh is hoping to have the livestock theft reports from local agencies funneled through the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and incorporated in the National Crime Information Center system. Theft of any cattle or horses is now a felony in the third degree.

Fruits on Display

Glades residents received some idea Monday of the kinds of exotic tropical fruits grown in the county, and which they themselves can grow, when Eugene Joiner hosted a tropical fruit display at the Bank of Belle Glade. Joiner exhibited 25 kinds of fruit, all edible, and said he has at least one tree or bush of every one represented in his own yard. The fruit ranged in size from Barbados cherries to a 15-pound specimen of Jackfruit. Joiner said he has seen at least one Jackfruit raised in Palm Beach County which weighed 17 pounds.

In the Bahamas, it has been believed that water from a crab's claw will cure an ear-ache.

Rediscover America

Nearly 500 years ago Christopher Columbus discovered America. He and his crew suffered through all kinds of hardships, storms, fears and doubts while crossing the uncharted sea, but they pressed on to a landing on this great continent. Then, this land was of little value to anyone. Over the centuries, however, this continent and especially our nation has become the richest and most powerful the world has ever known. Now, many of our people are experiencing fears and doubts about where we are as a people and what lies ahead for our nation. Perhaps we should rediscover America. Since the land mass that Columbus discovered is firmly underfoot, should we not turn our attention to rediscovering the principles, ideals and purposes that have brought us to the present? Perhaps in reviewing the history of our progress we can reaffirm the faith of our fathers and be better equipped to approach the unknown future.

Paul C. Kohr and Willard M. Jones, each with five years experience with the state Division of Corrections, will also receive credit for their training with Ocala Junior College.

The in-resident training is the first half of 320-hour course designed to upgrade existing DC personnel and train new employees of the state penal system. The other 160 hours of study will take place at GCI under the supervision of local instructors.

The curriculum deals with organizational structure, responsibilities, philosophies and policies of the division, of corrections of the various components in the criminal justice system in the state and

5-Day Seminar to Begin

A special five-day, 80-hour seminar, Investigation of the Abnormal Sex Offender, will be presented in the Palm Beach Junior College Auditorium Monday through Friday, Sept. 16-20 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Presented by the Palm Beach County Criminal Justice Institute on the PBJC campus, the seminar is designed for police, criminal investigators, detectives, court personnel, juvenile counselors and others in related fields.

Its major purpose, according to Lawrence D. Tuttle, chairman of the PBJC Law Enforcement Department, is to provide an opportunity for professional law enforcement and other criminal justice agency personnel to meet, discuss and analyze pertinent aspects of the sex offender and his offenses.

Instructor is former F.B.I. Police Training Coordinator, Walter V. McLaughlin, Berwyn, Pa., a national authority on police investigation of the sex offenses.

"Mr. McLaughlin has lectured for the F.B.I. National Academy and numerous police academies throughout the country."

"His seminar is the most extensive study available. Tuttle pointed out."

"This is the only conference of its kind in the country today."

Included in the course will be sex crime definitions and descriptions, motivating influences, sodomy and masochism, the voyeur, exhibitionist, rapist, child molester and obscene telephone calls.

Also covered is homosexuality, just murderers, general investigative techniques, interviewing the sex offender, preventive measures and a question and answer period, followed by an evaluation of principles.

Advance registration is being accepted at the Criminal Justice Institute, call 985-8000, ext. 285 for application forms. A limited number of students may register between 8:30 a.m. Sept. 16 for the seminar. Fee is $15.
